

Integrity:

"When Renier builds for us, it's as though we're their only customer. And, that's important when you're trying to set a new standard for your trucking facilities. Of course, the local contractors here in St. Louis had been beating our doors down for our business, but we chose to work with Renier because of their integrity, knowledge and commitment to doing things right. They've just completed our fourth project in 3 states and that says a lot for Renier's capabilities and dedication. And, most important, we are now known for having the nicest facilities in the trucking industry.

Our trusting relationship with Renier has been key to the success of every one of these projects. Because of Renier's pride in the details and understanding of our expectations, the punch list is always short."
